Simplifying FAFSA for Foster Youth with JBAY

If you've spent time in foster care, you're in a prime position to unlock significant financial aid for college or vocational schools through the FAFSA, including Pell and Chafee ETV grants - essentially free money that doesn't need to be repaid. By completing the FAFSA, you can access Pell Grants, offering $4K-$6K, and if you were in foster care for any period between ages 16 and 18, you're also eligible for an additional $5K yearly for education or vocational training.

To aid in this endeavor, The John Burton Advocates for Youth (JBAY) team has compiled essential insights into the FAFSA process tailored specifically for foster youth. Here's a quick glance at what we've unpacked for you:

- Updating Personal Info & Address Solutions: Ensuring your FAFSA reflects your current situation.
- Determining State of Legal Residence: Key for state aid eligibility.
- Handling Federal Tax Information: Submit with confidence.
- Selecting Schools: Strategize which institutions can view your application.
- Navigating Student Financials: A closer look at how to report assets and the impact of federal benefits.

Dive into our guidance to make your journey through financial aid smooth and successful.
